APRA online

The teaching model of APRA*online*

The same values, lived online: study from anywhere, whenever you want

APRA*online* brings APRA's teaching online: what we believe does not change, only the way it is lived. APRA's academic tradition meets the experience of Anáhuac Online in designing digital education.

Technology expands the possibilities of education. The person remains at the center of the educational process.

FROM PRINCIPLES TO TEACHING

A model learned by living it

The pedagogical model says why we educate; the teaching model turns it into concrete choices about how we teach, accompany and assess.

The methodology is experiential: students take an active part in their own journey. Teachers do not simply transmit information; they create meaningful experiences and guide those who study at APRA*online.

THREE STAGES: AWAKEN, DISCOVER, DECIDE

1

AWAKEN

Open questions, a link to personal experience and opening materials that spark curiosity.

2

DISCOVER

Guided reflection, readings chosen by the teachers, independent study and discussion, leading to a personal understanding.

3

DECIDE

Applying what has been learned to real situations, with formative feedback, in order to choose in an informed and wise way.

The teacher is a guide who inspires and motivates, not a mere transmitter of content.

APRA online

THE SAME VALUES, A DIFFERENT MODE

What stays and how it is lived online

Dialogue and community	Masterclasses and webinars throughout the year let students meet and listen live to their own teachers; spaces for exchange keep the community alive.
Accompaniment	Tutors who accompany students and constant feedback provide clear points of reference throughout the journey.
Formative assessment	Ongoing assessments let students see where they stand, against learning objectives defined in advance.
Responsible flexibility	Study from anywhere, whenever you want: at your own pace, within a clear structure.

Online, but never alone. Independence in study does not mean isolation, but accompanied responsibility.
